

Sinclair Broadcasting have decided to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary only days prior to the presidential election and this is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses public airwaves free of charge, and is required by law to serve the public interest.

When large companies control the airwaves, truth becomes slanted and unbalanced. Corporations should be held to a standard of fairness and not be allowed to play havoc with our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
